

Why Music? Why Strings?

This is an advocacy video, narrated by TV and film star Craig Nelson, which presents a persuasive case for the restoration of music and string programs in California schools. It includes essential information as well as performances by young musicians.

It can be shown to parent groups, community groups, school administrators and school boards; to all who may be concerned about or are responsible for the welfare and education of students.

"Why Music? Why Strings?" was produced jointly by:
California American String Teachers Association
Professional Musicians of Hollywood, Local 47, AFM.
